

The Polar Bears and the city

by: Miguel Diaz

COPYRIGHT ©

2008

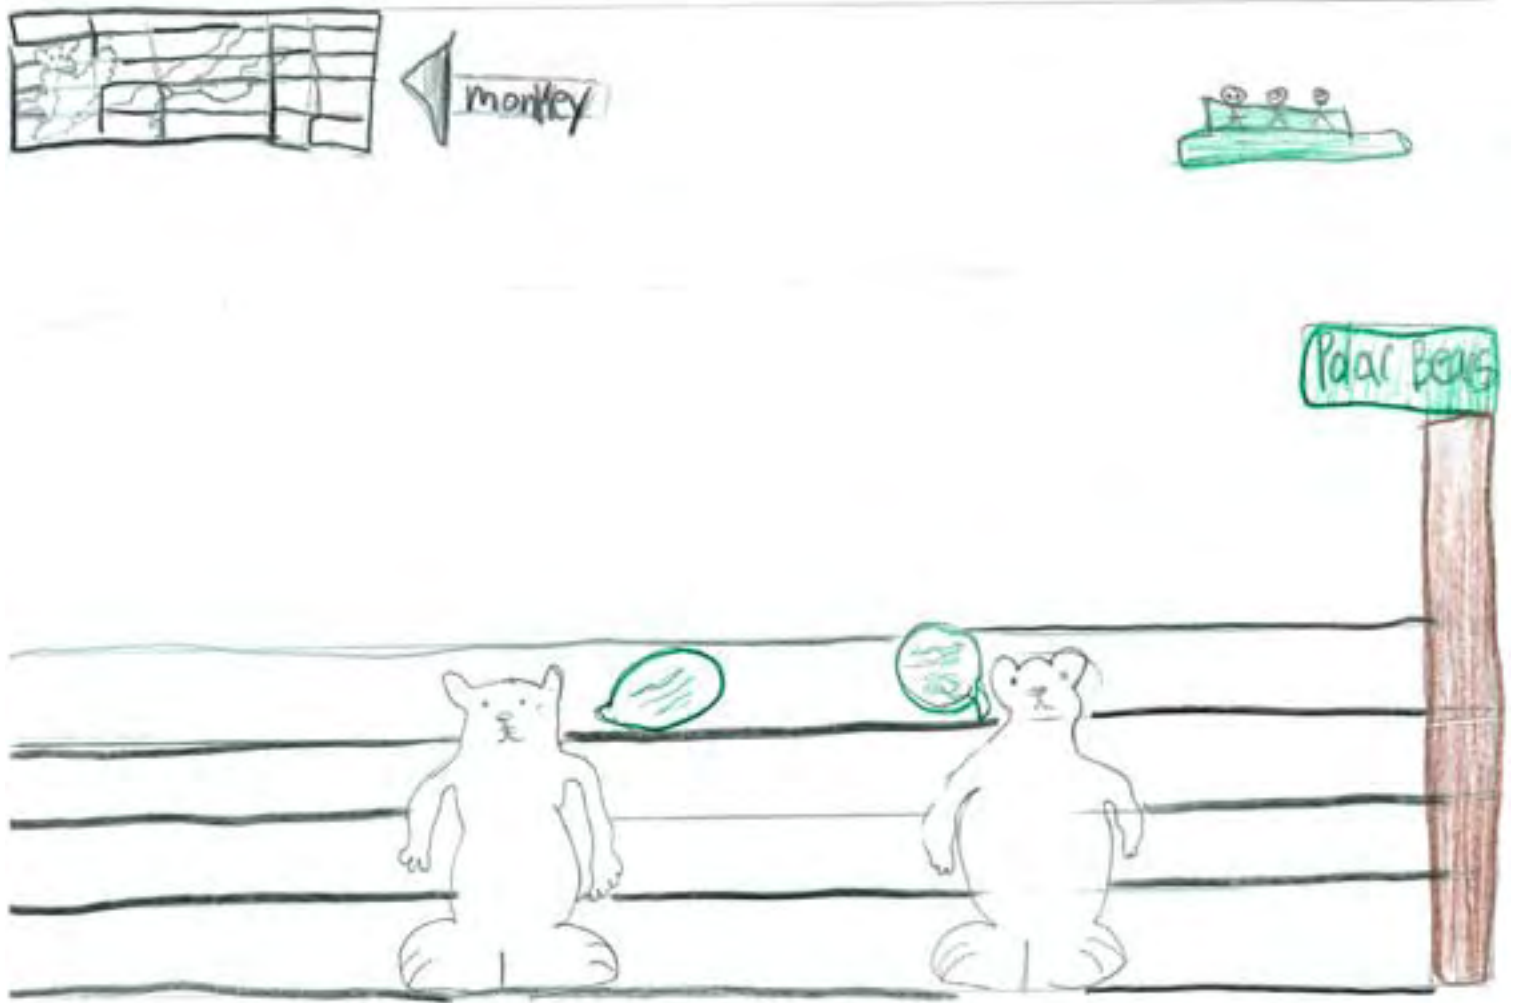

By: Miguel Diaz

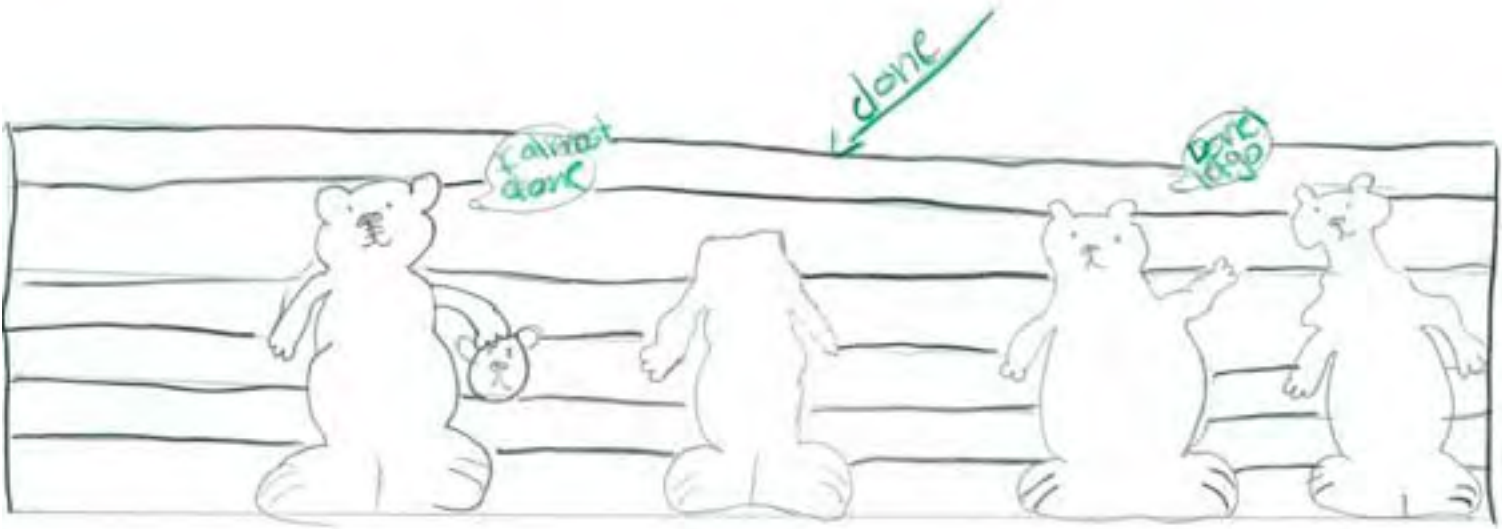

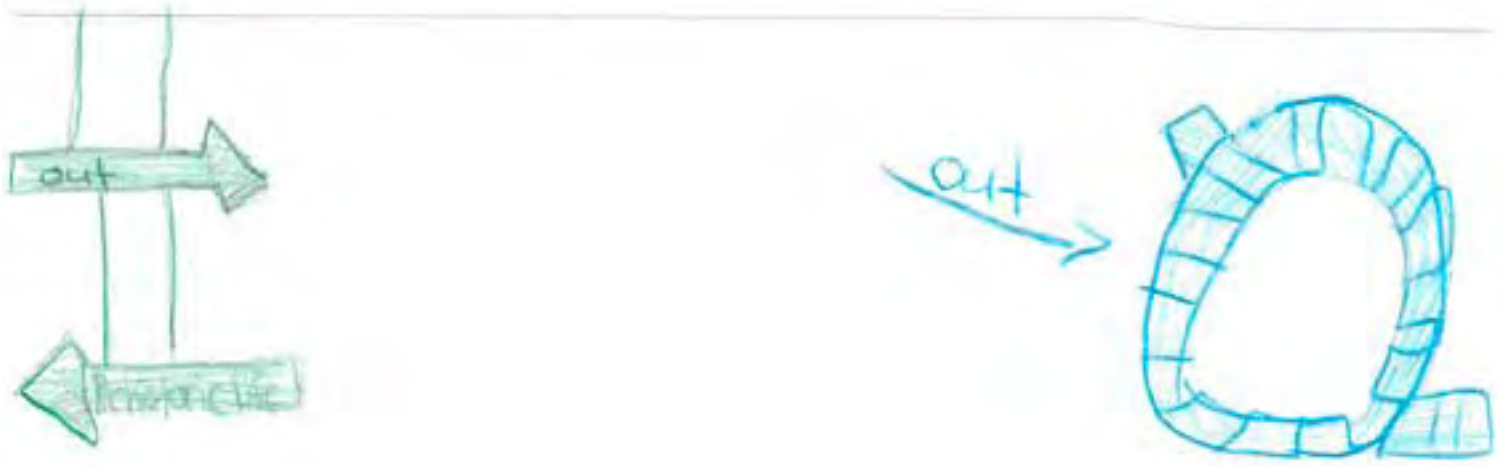

Once upon a time there were two polar bears. They were not just ordinary polar bears. They were the main attraction at the zoo cause they did tricks.

Tiny the older one said, "That we need to see our families." Momo was thinking how are we going to get out if we are the main attraction at the zoo.

Next they decided to clone themselves to trick the zoo keepers and still escape.

The zoo keepers called the animal control.
In the meanwhile the Polar Bears were getting hungry.

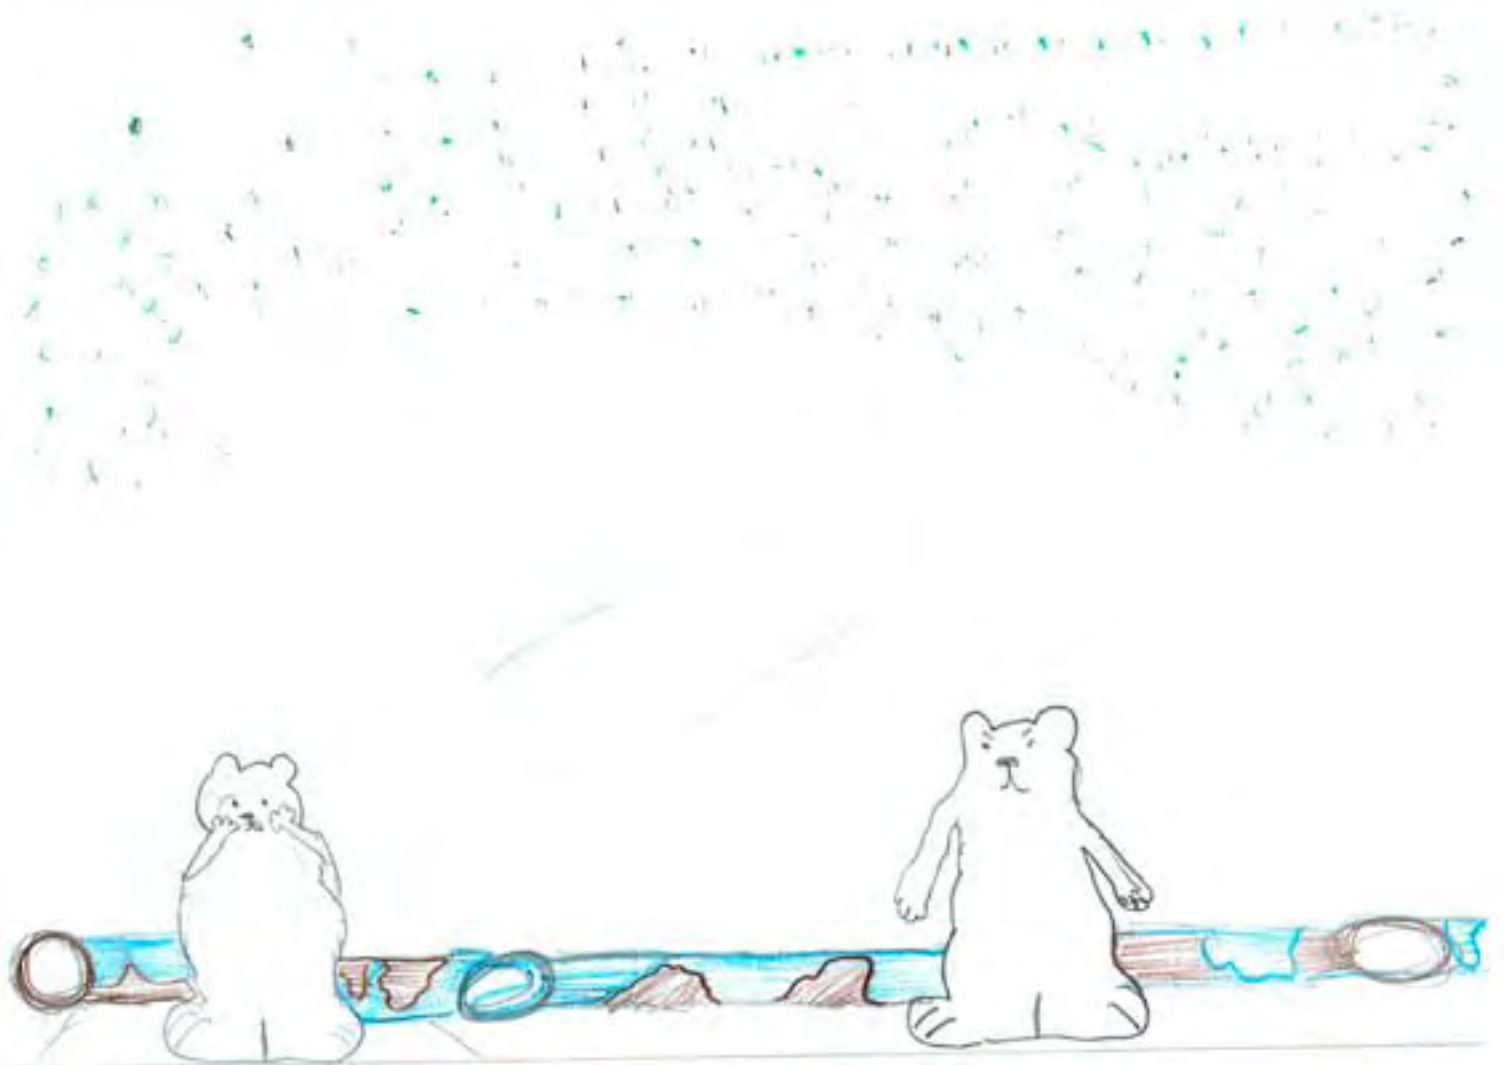

The Polar Bears decided to eat some left over fish from a chinness restfuant.

After eating momo said "to the wild".

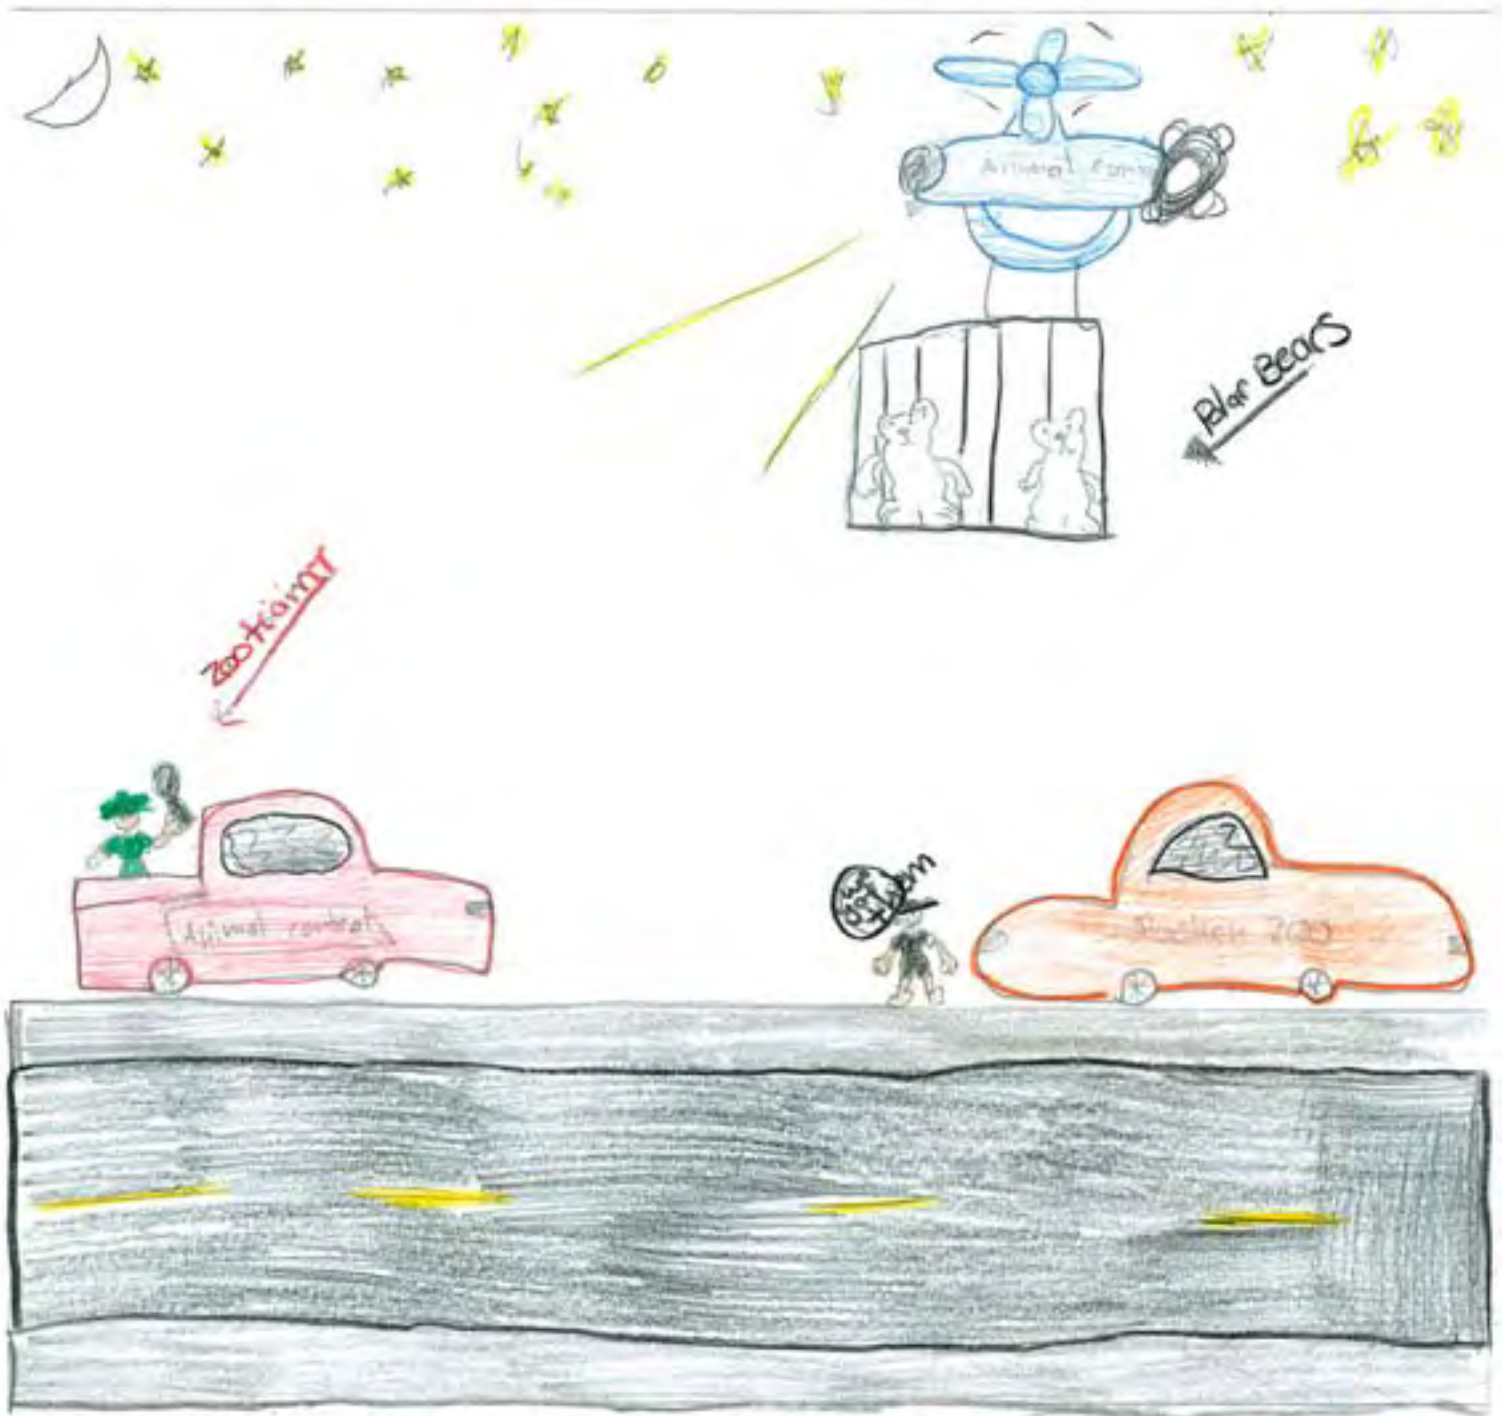

weeks later, they were finally in Alaska nobody was there. Tiny and Momo where upset that they did that for nothing.

They decided to go back to the zoo.

on the way back, they were caught by the animal control and there were being transferred to the Alaskan zoo.

The two Polar Bears were eating they saw a bunch of polar Bears and every Polar Bear look familiar. But there was a Polar Bear that was a Polar Bear that was the most familiar, They knew that, was their mother.

